Laura ELdref

Laura Eldret is a contemporary artist who is based in the South West of England, she works nationally and internationally creating art about people, communities, and the places and spaces we inhabit.

Laura makes a wide variety of artworks from largescale fabric installations to posters, from videos to performance art. Her work often includes patterns and invites audiences to interact the artwork. Laura's art is also about conversations with people and how art is a way to investigating the world. Laura has collaborated with a diverse range of people including firefighting boxers, a Zapotec community in Mexico and steam punks.

Laura has exhibited at major galleries across the UK and beyond. Laura teaches art at Universities and is also Director of 'More Than Ponies' an art programme for the New Forest. Laura is an Associate Artist on the 'Schools of Tomorrow' project with Nottingham Contemporary, which has brought her to working in our School.
